ATMOSPHERE & LOCATION

The evening began at Pier 12 on Friedrichstraße, where guests came together for the first introductions and conversations. From there, the experience continued with a private dining cruise along the River Spree, offering changing perspectives of Berlin and an informal setting for deeper conversations. The evening concluded at the China Club Berlin at the Adlon Palais, one of the city's distinguished Private Member Clubs. Three different settings, one carefully selected circle — creating space for genuine connections, new perspectives and conversations beyond conventional networking.

IMPRESSION TEXT

What made the evening memorable was not simply the places, but the people and conversations that unfolded between them. Different nationalities, industries and perspectives came together in an open and personal atmosphere. New connections were made, ideas exchanged and conversations started that continued well beyond Berlin. A first glimpse of what KYVOR is about: bringing the right people together and creating connections that would rarely happen otherwise.
